CITY COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the City Council was held on Monday evening last, with His Worship Mayor W. E. Lord in the chair, and Aldermen Stone, Broughton, Turnbull, White and Collison in attendance.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Collier's Weekly wrot re. Atlas.

The Financial Post wrote re. information desired regarding municipality.

Dominion Auto Trails Association wrote re. $100 grant, asking that same be paid at once, if possible.

It was agreed to pay half at once.

A letter from the Soldiers' Memorial committee secretary, W. R. Patchett, was read, asking Council to appoint a representative on the committee.

On motion of Aldermen Turnbull and White, Ald. Stone was appointed to the position.

Mrs. Thorn, secretary of the Women's Institute, wrote thanking Council for grant for Johnson family.

The Meteorological office, Ottawa, wrote that they had, at the request of Senator Michener, forwarded a mercurial barometer to Red Deer for city's use.

The city auditors reported audit to April 30 complete and satisfactory. They advised that a fund be placed to credit of a debenture coupon dated at end of 1919, not yet presented, be provided for.

Moved by Aldermen Broughton and Collison—That the recommendation of the auditor re. coupon be adopted. Carried.

A petition was received from residents of Second Street south west, signed by Wilson & Teasdale, T. J. Spears, and Mrs. N. Carr, asking that the water service be extended to that section of the city. Filed.

A petition was also received from residents of First St. S.E. asking that city water that strebt because of the heavy traffic. It was signed by Mrs. D. G. Horn, Mrs. Ed. Anderson, Geo. P. Simons, and nine others. Filed.

The Western General Electric Co. wrote asking for a rebate on taxes on telephone system amounting to nine months. The Co. thought that the rebate should be 75% of 50% of the $2391.58 paid in for taxes, which would be $896.84.

Ald. Collison and Stone moved that the letter from the Western General Electric Co. be referred to the assessor and the solicitors for a report, to be submitted at the earliest possible moment, and at the latest not later than the next regular meeting. Carried.

COMMISSIONERS' REPORT

The Commissioners brought in the following report:

1. We recommend that a clean-up week, commencing May 17, be held, and that citizens be requested to clean up their premises thoroughly.

2. Messrs. Malcolm and Gamble reported to us that they had thoroughly investigated the lighting situation at the hospital, and had decided to change the system somewhat so that much more light will be obtained at less cost. As they require some money for financing we have placed in the accounts submitted a voucher for $500.00 on account of grant provided in the estimates.

3. On Friday the river commenced to rise rapidly, and, with Ald. Collison, we inspected the intake and decided it would not be possible to do much to protect the intake wells at present as little damage can be done to the wells. We notified the Western General Electric Company that it would be advisable for them to take immediate steps to protect their power house from probable floods, and instructed Foreman Jones to have all moveable material removed to high ground. On Saturday the intake gave trouble through blocking up with silt, and the C. P. Ry. intake was blocked also so that we had had to supply them with water, which ran our supply short. Immediate steps were taken by Foreman Jones to clear the intake, and we hope to keep an ample supply available, but it will be very muddy at the best. Steps will have to be taken to improve the intake system entirely.

4. Last week Waskaoo Creek rose suddenly, and though we expected this to happen, the cold weather and frequent snow storms immediately prior to the sudden thaw prevented our doing very much to prepare for it, and the water rose so rapidly that it was impossible to control it near the Exhibition grounds, and the citizens were called upon to assist in holding it at 2nd Avenue before it could do any material damage to property. This was done, and we wish to express our appreciation to the many citizens who assisted in this work. We believe the danger from floods in the creek is now over unless the river rises to a great height and backs up the creek.

5. The roads are very rough at present, and we can see little chance of getting them much improved at present without great cost, as gravel cannot be obtained. We have more work for Foreman Jones at present than he can possibly handle, and some of it will have to wait for a time. More water and sewer connections are applied for than for some years and other important work is pressing. The team will have to be on the water cart a great deal from now on, at hired teams cost $1.00 per hour. We have done the best we can to get the roads passable.

6. During the flood it was necessary to raise the street grade on 2nd Ave. East, and after that the work of raising the grade on 1st St. South, as approved by members of the Council, was completed.

7. Chief Anderson reports that a great deal of damage has been done to buildings in the Exhibition grounds since A. H. Trimble moved out, and that vandalism costing many dollars has been done already.

8. We submit departmental reports for the month of April.

9. We submit statement of receipts and disbursements for April.

10. We submit accounts for your authorization to pay.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. E. LORD,
A. T. STEPHENSON,
Commissioners.

Ald. Broughton hoped something would be done to improve the sidewalk in front of the blacksmith shop on Gaetz Ave. North, as it was dangerous at times.

The Commissioner said he would try to have it improved.

Ald. Broughton pointed out in clause six that he did not favor having First Street South, between 2nd and 3rd Avenue, raised, as he understood this street would be closed when the railway came in.

The Mayor thought Ald. Broughton's objection came a little late after the work was done.

Ald. Collison said, while he was not consulted, as he was not at the meeting, still he admitted that he would not oppose the idea as he might otherwise have opposed it owing to a private conversation he had had with the Mayor which would lead him to infer that it might yet be to our advantage to fix this street. He thought that this expenditure at this time might have been held over for a time.

Ald. Broughton thought the Council should be consulted when work of this nature was done.

The Mayor said he had no desire to do anything of this nature without fully discussing the matter with the Council.

The report was adopted.

Departmental reports were read from the M.H.O., the Chief of Police, and the Chief of Fire Department.

ACCOUNTS

The following accounts were passed:

Imperial Bank $481.79; Public School Board 2250.00; W. Robertson 4.50; M. R. Willott 23.40; Manning-Sutherland Co. 41.42; Red Deer Club 11.00; Mrs. G. Taylor 3.75; Western General Electric Co. 22.14; A. B. Mitchell 1.15; Can. Pac. Railway 1.01; Hewson & Son 115.50; W. E. Cabman 2.50; Baltwin, Dow & Bowman 140.00; Apex Wagon Sheet 453..60; Sec-Treas. Red Deer Hospital 500.00; A. McCaskill 29.06; Payne & Graham 193.25; Red Deer Advocate 28.60; A. Pyfe 2.00; R. McLavin 1.00; Gaetz, Cornett Co. 5.20; Day Hardware Co. 9.25.

Aldermen Turnbull and Broughton moved that the Commissioners be authorized to settle Mr. Ed. Anderson's account with the city on the basis of 20% increase over last year's rates for similar work. Carried.

Council went into committee of the whole to discuss the threatened suit for damages to Mrs. John Ross owing to injuries sustained through a defective hole in sidewalk.

The committee rose, and it was agreed by mutual consent that an effort will be made to settle the trouble without delay satisfactorily to all parties without taking the matter into court.

Ald. Collison gave notice of motion for next meeting to again bring up the question dealing with the motion passed at the last Council meeting regarding the addition asked for by David Ross.

Ald. Collison asked if the Western General Electric Co. had the right to ask for a deposit in the case of a person going into a residence in advance for light and to hold the deposit for a number of years?

The Mayor thought this referred to power.

Ald. Collison said this was for light in residence owned by person.

The Commissioners will give a verbal report next meeting as to the Company's right in this regard.

Council adjourned shortly after 11 p.m.

WEST TRAFFIC ALL OVER A.C.R. NOW

Owing to the Burbank bridge on the C.N.R. being out of commission on account of wash outs, all the traffic from the west is coming over the A.C.R. through Red Deer. It will be probably six weeks before the damage from floods will be repaired. There were also several small washouts on the A.C.R. during the past week, but they are being repaired as quickly as possible.

FOOTBALL NOTES

The first League game of the season will take place on the Fair grounds on Friday evening, May 14th, between the Veterans and School & City.

Mr. Patterson, however, wants the gates closed by parties crossing his land, as he is not in fit health to run after travellers and close the gates after them.

W. Patchett met with a very painful accident Saturday afternoon last while crawling up a gasoline engine at the Windsor Garage. The heavy crank slipped off and swung around, striking him on the nose, breaking that organ in two places, and narrowly escaping ruining his right eye, which was terribly bruised. He had the wound dressed, but was unable to take his accustomed place at the organ in St. Luke's Church on Sunday. Miss Fyson kindly took charge of the organ for the day.

SCHOOL FAIRS

A meeting of the Executive of the Red Deer School Fair Association was held in the City Hall on Saturday, May 1, for the purpose of discussing the prize list. A standard prize list was adopted by the Provincial Dept. of Agriculture and was adopted with one or two changes. The most important change was made in the "Collection of Vegetables" class, which in the standard prize list was for competition between the pupils from the same school. It was thought that this would entail a very great number of small prizes, and it was decided to make the class open for all competitors and to make the prizes worth while competing for. Another change was the substitution of "A rural school lunch" for "Rolled oats cookies" in the cooking class.

Special prize lists are being printed and will be sent to the competing schools as soon as possible. In the meantime it will be advisable to follow the standard prize list which is in force this year in the schools which have received their seeds.

The Executive allotted prizes as follows:—

Classes 1, 2, 3, $2.50 to 25¢—10 prizes.
Classes 4 to 9, $1 to 10¢—10 prizes.
Classes 10 to 14, $1 to 20¢—5 prizes.
Class 15, $2 to 25¢—8 prizes.
Classes 16 and 18, $1 to 25¢—5 prizes
Class 17, $2, $1.50, $1, 75¢, 50¢, 25¢
Classes 19 and 20, 60¢ to 10¢—6 prizes
Classes 21 to 24, $1 to 20¢—5 prizes
Class 25, $1.50 to 25¢—6 prizes
Classes 26 to 29, 60¢ to 10¢—6 prizes
Classes 30 and 31, $1 to 20¢—5 prizes
Classes 32 and 33, $1.50 to 25¢—6 prizes
Classes 34 and 35, $1 to 20¢—5 prizes
Classes 36 and 37, $1.50 to 25¢—6 prizes
Classes 38 to 42, $5 to $1—5 prizes
Classes 43 to 46, $3 to $1—3 prizes
Approximately $270 in prizes.

Prizes for classes 38 and 42 are presented by the Canadian Bankers' Association, and for 43, 44 and 45 by the Alberta Natural History Society. The prize money for stock granted by the Department of Agriculture has been allotted to 39, 40 and 41.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Red Deer Boys' & Girls' Pig Club for their having turned over to the Schools Fair Association the balance of their funds, and to the Alberta Natural History Society for prize money.

A few copies of the Regulations and Standard Prize Lists are available at the "News" and "Advocate" offices.

The date of the Fair is Friday, October 1.

THOS. DAY, SR. PASSES AWAY

Probably the oldest citizen of the Red Deer district died on Saturday last at Edwell, in the person of Thomas Day, Sr., at the ripe old age of 94 years.

Mr. Day was born in England, and many years ago moved to the United States, where he raised a family of seven children. In 1899 he moved to Alberta and took up his homestead near Edwell, where he has resided ever since with members of his family. His wife died in 1913 at the age of 84 years. He leaves four sons and three daughters to mourn his death, namely, William, Thomas and Samuel, residing here, and Clinton, residing in Idaho; and Emma and Esther, residing at Edwell, and May, residing in Wyoming. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon to Horn Hill cemetery.

PENHOLD NOTES

Mr. Johnson Woods will leave Penhold for B.C. at the end of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robinson and family left for the coast on Monday's noon train.

Most of the farmers have made a good start with their land, and a little seeding has already been done.

Services next Sunday in the Presbyterian Church, at 11 a.m., followed by Sunday School, and in the Anglican Church at 3 p.m.

The L.O.B.A. are putting on a concert and dance in the Community Hall on Friday, May 21. The Olds orchestra will supply the music. Admission, $1.50 per couple.

The Rev. Mr. Herbison and little daughter, also Mrs. Herbison's mother, arrived in Penhold last Friday, and have now moved into the manse, which has just been redecorated.

The Bailey theatres are putting on "Loaded Dice," featuring Frank Keenan in same, next Saturday evening, May 15th. Arrangements for having music with it are under way.

There was a good turnout to both the afternoon and evening meetings of May 7, and all thoroughly enjoyed the addresses given by Miss Noble in the interest of Women's Institute work. She expressed herself as highly gratified with the work the local Institute was doing.

Don't forget May 14th, next Friday, when the local G.W.V.A. will put on a grand dance in the Community Hall. They have engaged the Calgary G.W.V.A. orchestra to provide the music. This will be the grand dance of the season, so all come and have a good time. Admission, $2.00 per couple.

Penhold has set Saturday afternoon, May 15th, as the day on which trees will be planted around the school grounds. Will everyone bring at least one tree towards this good cause. Appropriate exercises will be conducted, the school and Women's Institute and School Board all participating, to commemorate the memory of Harold Muldrew, a former teacher here, who fell in the great conflict.

CLEARVIEW

Miss Edith McKinnon is home from Edmonton, having completed her final year at the Alberta University.

Miss Viva Thompson, who has been spending the winter in Virginia, has returned, and is visiting at the home of Mrs. Chris. White.

Seeding has commenced with full steam ahead. Wheat is not being neglected altogether as was anticipated.

The roads are drying fast, but oh, that Chalmer's grade is out of sight.

With clouds of ducks hanging around at this late season, many nests will be found in the fields this spring. Why is there not a bounty on crows and magpies, the ruthless pillagers of the nests of our game birds? Crow's nests are much in evidence among all the small clumps of poplars and boys should be encouraged to destroy them.

M. J. Gibson, secretary of the Red Deer Schools Fair Association, is getting supplies from Olds for mounting flowers and preserving insects. These will be forwarded to the schools as soon as received. Each of the competing schools is to have a hot bed on the school grounds to raise cabbage and cauliflower plants for all the pupils.

A real convivial time was participated in on Wednesday afternoon, May 5th, at the home of Mrs. Chris. White, when the members of the Clearview Women's Institute turned out in full force to greet Miss Noble, the Alberta Provincial President of this progressive body. Miss Noble's address was along the line of general Institute work, and was much appreciated by all those who had the pleasure of listening to her. She is a broad minded lady, a clear thinker, and a forceful gifted speaker. She said, in part, that during these times of excessively high prices, it was up to the women to practice ebonomy. The housewife should buy the best clothes, but avoid the constant change. A great deal might be saved by the canning process, from the garden, different kinds of meats, etc. It was the woman's business to know the true value of the dollar and to make it work to its full capacity.

Each Institute should have a definite programme of work laid out six months ahead and see that such programme is carried out.

Members should be thoroughly alive to the general needs of the home, the school and the community in general.

Homes could be beautified and made more attractive, schools could be well cleaned and decorated, and tree planting encouraged.

Miss Noble comes from Dayaland, and is out on a provincial lecture tour which will take up four months of her time.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered her by the members of this Institute for her kindness in coming here and for her helpful and interesting address.

BIRTH

In Red Deer, on Monday, May 10th, to Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Filmer, a son.

DEATH

DAY—Died, at Edwell, Saturday, May 8th, Thomas Day, Sr., aged 94 years. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, May 11th, to Horn Hill Cemetery, Rev. Heywood officiating. Arrangements in charge of H. G. Stone & Sons, phone 172.

If you are considering buying some new rugs this summer, it will pay you to consult the Best Furniture Co. They can save you money.

GLENELEN

May 8th, 1920.

Spring is here and everyone is busy on the land.

Mr. Reding arrived home last Tuesday after a very pleasant visit at Montana and other parts.

Our school is running again with Miss Christianson of Wetaskiwin as teacher.

Dorothy Edwards arrived from England last week.

Mrs. Dr. Warke is expected from England shortly.

Mr. Howell again has the laurels for being the first to sow his wheat in this district.

Jess Moulton is working for Mr. Worts of Milnerton.

A. Halliday has purchased a number of cows from H. Trimble, Red Deer.

Frank Edwards was in Red Deer last week, and said the roads were very bad.

Si Orr, the popular sheep man, reports his sheep as doing splendidly.

A very successful dance was held in the school house Friday evening last.

The old familiar sound of our creamery whistle is cheery, and the creamery is doing a humming business.

CARD OF THANKS

Edwards.

To my Red Deer friends:

I wish hereby to heartily thank you for your generous patronage during my eight years' stay among you, and to announce that I am going out on the land, on a half section purchased from Mr. Youmans, east of Morningside, next week. If I do as well farming as I done in Red Deer, tailoring, I shall be satisfied, and I shall be thankful to our Heavenly Father for his gifts of health, guidance and success.

Hoping to be always kindly remembered by you.

I am, yours truly,
CHARLES SMITH.

All the comrades and friends who have had the privilege of listening to Captain Geo. Mundy on previous occasions know that a good time is in store for all who attend. Special music will be provided, and the Red Deer well filled hall expects Captain George Mundy next Sunday, the 16th inst.

WILLOWDALE NOTES

On Tuesday evening the young people of Willowdale presented Rev. J. G. Meek, who has been the minister in charge of this work for several years, and who has now gone to Bowden, with a pure all-wool lap robe as a slight token of their esteem and good wishes, also the following address:—

Rev. J. G. Meek.

Dear Sir,—

The young people of Willowdale and members of the Willowdale Club, for which you have been a member, president, and chairman of the devotional committee, could not allow you to leave Willowdale without some expression of their esteem and good wishes towards you.

During the seven and a half years you have been with us, you have been a most efficient pastor; you have always been ready to lend a helping hand to social events and sports of all kinds within the community; you have always had an everlasting supply of good yarns which we greatly enjoyed and appreciated; you have always kept the manse door open for socials and meetings, and our hospitality equal with a capital 11) will always be remembered by us.

The best wishes of the young people go with you to your new home. They hope you will enjoy the best of health and success in your new appointment We ask you to accept this small token of our esteem, appreciation and good wishes.

Signed on behalf of the young people of Willowdale.

Hugh McHodgkinson.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

At the meeting of the Women's Institute, held in the hall of the Knox Presbyterian church, on Tuesday, May 4th, about forty of the members being present, Miss Noble, of Dayaland, Provincial President of the association, gave a very interesting address on "Better pictures for the home." Miss Noble showed some books to those present which referred to the works of some of the great masters, expressing a wish that books of this class where more often used in our schools so that our boys and girls would become better acquainted with the works of famous artists.

The Institute wishes to take this opportunity to thank the Misses Brumpton and Cardwell and Mrs. Oulton for their very kind services in helping along the programme.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Miss Noble was the guest of Mrs. H. G. Stone, President, during her stay in Red Deer. She addressed meetings at Clearview and Springvale, and on Friday afternoon gave an address to the Women's Institute at Penhold.

LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

At the meetipg of Local Council of Women, held on Friday, May 7th, there were eight present. Only one affiliated society, the W.C.T.U., was represented. On motion of the Council, Mesdames Sandford and Edwards were renominated for office in the N. C. of W. This was followed by the reading of the preliminary agenda of the meeting of the N. C. of W.

In response to a letter received, Mrs. Galbraith was appointed delegate to Soldiers' Memorial Committee.

Mrs. Moyes, superintendent Child Welfare, read a letter from Mrs. Stead, of Halifax, relative to the need of special classes being formed in our schools, with specially trained teachers, for children who are mentally backward.

M. D. GOLDEN WEST NO. 371

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that there has been introduced in the Council of the Municipal District of Golden West, No. 371, a By-law, of which the following is a short synopsis:

No animal, the property of any person, resident or non-resident, within that portion of the said District, hereinafter more particularly described, shall at any time be at large within that portion of the said district more particularly described as follows:

Portions North and West of Red Deer River of Township 38-27-4; Portion West of Red Deer River, commencing with Sec. 7-38-25-4, and Sections 25,26,27,34, 35 and 36 of Township 38-1-5.

In terms of this Section, any animal shall be deemed to be at large which is not on the premises of its owner, and which is not under the control of the owner, either by being securely tethered, or in direct and continuous charge of a herder, or by confinement within any building or other enclosure or lawful fence.

Any animal at large contrary to the provisions of this By-law may be impounded.

Any fence complying with the requirements of the Fence Ordinance shall be deemed to be a lawful fence.

The provicions of Sections 208 to 215, inclusive, of the Municipal District Act shall be deemed to be incorporated in and form part of this By-law.

And that a copy of the same may be seen in each of the following places: At The News office, Red Deer, at the residence of Arthur Rogers, Reeve of the Municipal District, at the Post Office, Sylvan Lake, and at the office of the Secretary.

And further that unless within thirty days from the publication of this notice at least ten resident electors of that part of the Municipality more particularly described above petition the Council to sumbit such By-law to the vote of the resident electors, the Council will proceed to pass the same.

A. McCASKILL,
Secretary of the Municipality of Golden West No. 371.

EXAMINER'S REVIEW OF PROVINCIAL MARKETS

Calgary, May 7th.

Cattle

Out of the light receipts at the Calgary yards this week there were more than the usual number of good beef, and the demand on the offering was keen and prices on the good stuff markedly stronger. Choice steers are from $13.35 to $15; good butchers, $11.50 to $13. Very few cows of any kind and some choice ones up to $12.60 and a spread down to $11. Trading in stockers and feeders was pratically suspended owing to lack of stock; with grass coming it is expected the offerings of this class will be light and the demand active. No calves to make a market.

New top prices were also realized at Edmonton during the week on the good steers, which have now advanced to $14.60, and the best cows and heifers will sell up to $13. There is keen competition for the really good beef, but there is a wide spread on the poorer animals. Heavy orders have been placed with commission houses for feeders. Yearling heifers are selling as high as $9.50; yearling steers from $8.75 to $9.50 and feeders around $10.50. Oxen have been selling stronger, and some choice ones made $10.25. Opinion is that beef prices will be maintained for a time.

Hogs

After a closing price of a week ago at Calgary of $22 the market on the few loads offered was $21.75 until Thursday when it advanced to $22.25. Friday morning's arrivals very light and the price $22.25.

Hog prices at Edmonton have been holding between $21.00 to $21.50. Spring litters of pigs are showing a discouraging number of dead young ones and some of the sows are dying, probably due to their weakened condition following the long winter.

Sheep

No receipts of fat sheep or lambs during the week at Calgary yards. Breeding ewes with lambs are quoted from $15 to $21.

Horses

Market very slow and no demand for horses of any kind just at present. Shippers advised to keep out; it's a buyers' market.

Grain

Prices during a greater part of the week have been ruling very strong on weather conditions, but the general opinion is that prices are due for a decline.

Seeding operations were tied up nearly all over Alberta for a few days owing to storms, but renewed activity was shown during the past few days. Some seed which was got in early has started, and in some places considerable seeding has been completed. There is the greatest activity shown wherever it is possible to do any work, and under anything like favorable conditions the acreage will be larger than might have been expected in a late season.

Produce

Eggs have been coming more freely during the latter part of the week and prices are reduced to around $13.50. Butterfat quoted at 76c at creameries and 72c at stations for extra, with a 3c spread down on No. 1 and No. 2. Prices likely to drop in a short time. Dairy butter still scarce and demand not so active except for choice table. Creamery butter demand active and home consumption taking care of most of the output. Potatoes are a little easier and country point prices are quoted from $90 to $100; seed potatoes are going to be very dear.

Hay

Dealers are quoting hay at from $50 to $55, the former being on cars which are not for immediate delivery. Hay is scarce at the city market and worth from $60 to $70.

Hides

Market weaker on everything except butcher hides and flint dried. Fallen hides quoted from 11 to 15c; kip, 18 to 24c; calf 26 to 32c.

Furs

Trade badly demoralized following adverse reports from manufacturers and lower sales in London. St. Louis sale starts next Monday and following that better line will be obtained on prices. At present dealers do not care to quote.

The Aftermath of Action

(By Henry Chas. Suter)

THE SOLDIERS' SILENCE

Why don't they talk about it?

That was the foolish question that this man was asking. Of course, he had not been through the struggle of Flanders, and hence, being extremely anxious to know something of what went on over there, he had badgered may a returned man to tell him something about it. No, I am wrong; for this man would not be content to know something; a little was never in his line; he always desired a lot. So we arrive at the fact that this man wanted to know too much, and of course in the affairs of this world if a man wants to know too much, it invariably happens that everyone seems to be determined that he shall learn but little. However this is not the only reason he was compelled to cry out, "Why don't they talk about the war? Why don't they tell us about it?"

The truth is that the boys don't want to talk about it, and yet there are many men like unto this man who don't understand this. They have asked the returned soldier so many silly questions about the war, that it is not to be wondered at that they appear most disappointing to the boys. This particular man, for instance, had cornered many a returned man and spoken about the 'glorious charges," and had sought to hear the horrible details of them. He had even been silly enough to ask some of them if they had really stuck a bayonet in a German. Perhaps it would not have been so bad if he had merely sought some information about some painful deaths in hospital or the horrible sufferings of loved ones in sick rooms, but he was so curious about the horrible side of it all that the decision of many a returned man was an emphatic refusal to answer his questions and turned away from him in disgust as from a bloody-minded person.

So this man went on asking the fearful question, "How is it that none of these fellows will talk about the war?" He did not have the gumption to understand that they were trying to forget it all, and hence they did not want to talk about it. Moreover this man could not help them to forget. No; and to make matters worse this man went among his friends with this eternal question on his lips, "Why don't they talk about it?" He even intimated that since they would not talk about it, he didn't believe it was such a hard struggle after all, or else he asserted that these fellows had not been in the fight much or at least had not passed through the hardest part.

"No!" he cried, "I don't believe it was so bad as we think or as rough as the papers make out, or these fellows would talk about it."

Of course this decision at which he arrived was the greatest part of this man's folly, but why pursue the subject any further? The truth is that this man and all others like him are going on their way as fools, revelling in such folly, while the soldier who is striving to forget it all goes on his happy way, having taken refuge in silence.

SIR ROBERT BORDEN LEAVES FOR OTTAWA

Ottawa, May 6.—A special to the Citizen from Asheville, N.C., dated today, says:

Accompanied by a number of officials of the Canadian Pacific railway, and travelling in private car, Canadian Pacific No. 100, Sir Robert Laird Borden, premier of Canada, and Lady Borden left here this afternoon at 4.50 o'clock (eastern time) for Ottawa. They have been spending three weeks at Grove Park Inn, coming here after arriving in this country from England, where Sir Robert had gone with Admiral Jellicoe.

When seen at the station here this afternoon Sir Robert stated that he is in the very best of health, and hopes to be able to plunge directly into the work as soon as he arrives at the Canadian capital, where he expects to arrive Sunday.

WHY SOME EMPLOYEES ARE LATE

"This is the fourth morning you've been late, Rufus," said the man to his colored chauffeur.

"Yes sah," replied Rufus. "I did oversleep myself, sah."

"Where is that clock I gave you?"

"In my room, sah."

"Don't you wind it up?"

"Oh, yes, sah. I winds it up, sah."

"And do you set the alarm?"

"Ev'ry night, sah, I set de alarm, sah."

"But don't you hear the alarm in the morning, Rufus?"

"No, sah, dere's de trouble, sah. Yer see de blame thing goes off while I'm asleep, sah."

TRIED TO BURN BOY AT STAKE

The Lancaster, O., police are searching for five older boys who, on April 14, attacked Charles Kneller, 10, newsboy, while carrying his route, bound him to a stake, plied kindling and papers about him and, starting a fire, left him to his fate. The boy was badly burned.

ARE PREHISTORIC ALBERTA FIELDS BEING STRIPPED?

While excavating at Berry Creek, Alberta, last week, a resident found the fossilized remains of a huge shell fish and those of a big fish. The iridiscent, phosphoric hues still were retained in the solid rock formation and a crust of limestone had been broken off to show the true lines of the mollusk and those of the fish. In fact the fish's ribs were clearly marked.

The resident took the specimens into The Herald office, Calgary, last week and showed them to several Calgarians who are interested in the conservation for Canada of the prehistoric remains in Alberta. He said the American scientific societies keep a man engaged in the Red Deer river valley prospecting for fossils and that they pay up to $1,000 a specimen, depending upon its nature and the perfection in which it is extracted from the rock.

He contended that the Dominion should keep a strict control of these fossils and should insist that Canada get the first choice of the specimens for the educational benefit of her own people. As it was, the specimens were being shipped out in wholesale fashion and the field was being stripped.

The matter was drawn to the attention of several citizens, and these have gone so far as to submit the question to Ottawa. What they wish to know is whether these specimens are to be regarded as natural resources. If the answer is in the affirmative, then the claim will be made that the federal government has no business to allow their exploitation and exportation without consulting the province.

SNOW WONDER

A man was skiing along a New England road when he noticed a fairly good hat out on the snow. He reached out with his stick and gave it a sharp cut, and was dumbfounded to hear a voice from under the hat exclaim:

"Hey, there! What the heck are you trying to do?"

Then he made the alarming discovery that the owner was up to his ears in snow.

"Great heavens," he exclaimed, "Is the drift that deep over there?"

"Deep," answered the victim, "why man alive, I'm standing on a load of coal."

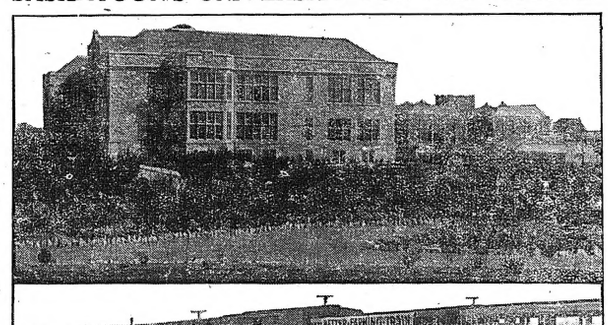
THEY ALL RUBBERED

Old Gentleman (in street car)—Has any one here dropped a roll of bills with a rubber elastic around them?

"Yes, I have," cried a dozen at once.

Old Gentleman (calmly)—"Well, I've just picked up the elastic."

SASKATOON'S UNIVERSITY FOR THE PRAIRIES



Upper Picture.—One end of the Administration Building, University of Saskatchewan, with the Engineering Building in the background.
Lower Picture.—A Travelling University, showing how instruction is carried to the farmers of Saskatchewan.

Long after the ivy peered in at the upper windows of such splendid universities as Oxford, Cambridge or Harvard, such an institution as the University of Saskatchewan had not even been imagined. When Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who laid the corner stone of this new university July 29th, 1910, was a student poring over his books few but Indians had stood on the height of land which is the site of the buildings shown in the accompanying photographs, and watched the waters of the South Saskatchewan River gliding swiftly and silently northward.

Although the prairie soil was as rich and the river as broad and full then as now, the City of Saskatoon was unconceived. Even as late as twenty years ago, where now stands a city of 30,000 people on three lines of railway, there were not one hundred men, women and children and these were housed in a few tents and shacks. The wildest enthusiast would hardly have dared to prophesy that one day a university would grow there—yet there it stands!

The buildings of the University of Saskatchewan crown the height of land north east of Saskatoon and the site could hardly have been more fortunately chosen. It includes half a mile of well-wooded river front and altogether embraces 1,333 acres of rich land, 293 acres of which are set aside for a campus, 160 acres for purposes of agricultural experimentation and 630 for the Agricultural College farm. The plan provides for the eventual accommodation of 5,000 students.

The present buildings consists of an administration building, containing a hall and offices for the different departments as well as class rooms, two students' residences, one containing a spacious dining hall and the other a gymnasium and swimming pool; an engineering building; livestock pavilion and up-to-date model farm buildings. All the buildings conform to the preconceived plan and will, like those already erected, be of stone in the Gothic style. Work has just recently begun on a new science building. There are also several private residences on the campus, the two principal stone ones provided for in the architect's plan being those of the President of the University and the Dean of Agriculture. The buildings of Emmanual College, a church of England Divinity School, the first of its kind in Saskatchewan also occupy a part of the campus. The University grants sites of from three to five acres to such affiliated colleges at a nominal rental. Eight thousand dollars has already been subscribed towards a beautiful structure which will be the home of the Presbyterian College.

The university provides degrees in Arts, Science Law, Agriculture, Civil Engineering and a Diploma in Pharmacy.

The present enrolment is between 1,400 and 1,500, including returned soldiers who are retraining in various branches of skilled work, particularly engineering. Scores of promising returned soldiers have been turned out as capable motor mechanics. Steam engineering and the handling and repairing of farm tractors are also taught. Agricultural students, principally the sons of farmers, are training in livestock handling and judging, and even in the care and management of poultry.

An important feature of the work of the University of Saskatchewan has been its Extension Department consisting of short instructional courses at seasonable times for farmers and farmers' wives. Each year a special train is fitted out and a regular course of instruction mapped out including lectures to farmers. This train is widely advertised as the "Better Farming Train." It makes a tour of the Province, stopping at all important points and the farmers drive in for miles to examine the exhibits, talk over their problems with experts and hear the lectures. Realizing that the average busy farmer cannot go to the University, an effort is made to take the University to him and to let him know at first hand the results of experiments with special varities of grain, the latest information about methods of soil tillage and the like.

During the recent winter evening lecture courses have been given at a nominal fee for the benefit of city residents. Some of the best educated people in the community have attended these classes.

From an educational standpoint Saskatoon offers as great opportunities as any city in Canada. Complete training from Kindergarten to University is provided through a fine set of public schools, thirteen large public schools, which ranged in cost from $115,000.00 to $155,000.00 as pre-war building prices. An accompanying photograph shows two of them in one block in the working class section of the city. The enrolment of pupils in the public schools is now well over 4,000.

The Collegiate Institute, which provides the intermediate stage between the Public Schools and the University, has an enrolment of about 2,000.

Having been sole proprietor of the Alberta Meat Market during Mr. Teasdale's absence in the Great War, I am pleased to announce that I have again taken Mr. Teasdale into partnership. I am desirous, therefore, of having all accounts owing me settled at once to save annoyance and inconvenience, which is always consequent upon a change of this kind. Thanking you in advance for your patronage, and attention to this matter.

I remain, yours sincerely.

A LAME EXCUSE

Most people will agree with the Vancouver World in the following reference to the explanations regarding his war record recently offered in the Dominion House by the Liberal leader. The World says:

"There were others like Mr. King in Canada on August 4, 1914. Some were 40 years old and more; some had relatives dependent on them—even wife and children; some were striving for humanitarian ends; some even were doing just as important work in the economic world as Mr. King in the United States.

"These men went to the war. Some of them did not come back, so they cannot explain their reasons. But perhaps it is not necessary. The people of Canada, looking upon their graves, will understand.

"But one thing they do not understand, and Mr. Mackenzie King does not explain it and that is why, when the men who wanted a helping hand in the blood and mud and horrors of the struggle to which they gave themselves with such sublime self-sacrifice what time Mr. King was helping the United States to settle its labor troubles, Mr. King should have hurried back to Canada to fight the battles of the party which opposed conscription."

ARE THEY IN EARNEST?

The idea behind the "overall" movement is one that will be effective—if it is adhered to for a reasonable length of time. If the women could be persuaded to adopt the same plan, and attire themselves in cheap materials, plainly made, it would be a most effective step in reducing the cost of living.

For many years there has been sinful extravagance in dress, especially by women, but also, to a large degree, by men. Few women wear their clothes until they are worn out. As soon as the style changes the dress or suit is cast aside. They are slaves to fashion, and in doing so are guilty of gross extravagance. To a lesser degree men also are culpable. They want to shine all the time, and have at least twice as many suits as would be needed if strict economy were practised.

We fear the present movement will be too ephemeral to accomplish the results that are possible. People who are really in earnest in practising economy in clothing would insensibly economize in all other supposed needs. There is an awful waste of money on amusement, and almost as much in food. If we could get men and women to calmly scrutinize their contemplated expenditures before they are made, it would be found that a vast amount of money would remain in their pockets. It would, of course, lessen the demand for many things and bring the supply up as the demand went down.

That is the only road that leads to a lower cost of living, but how many will travel it to the end?

STOP; LOOK; LISTEN; USE MORE CARE

Tons of Steel are Harder to Stop Than Any Motor Made.

Careless and thoughtless driving of motor cars have cost the lives of many people and millions of dollars damage since the auto came into general use in the United States and Canada. The railroads of both countries have been forced to pay out large sums of money in damages.

It should be remembered by all drivers of motor cars that a train has to run on tracks and that a motor car has a certain amount of freedom in this regard. It should be remembered that a motor can be stopped within a few feet while it often takes far more than one hundred yards for a train to stop. Always look before crossing a railroad and be sure to approach at a speed such that allows you perfect control of your machine.

The growing list of fatalities from motor cars is alarming. In the United States it has reached such a stage that the public is crying out against it and in some cities some novel plans of punishment have been put in force. In Chicago speeders are sentenced to make a slow trip through the morgue under the guidance of a deputy coroner. In Youngstown, Ohio, speeders are sentenced to hold watch beside the dead body of their victim or at the hospital bedside of their injured victim. New York City makes the speeders go through practically the same procedure on arrest that they would the most daring criminal. Photographs and finger prints are taken and a "rogues" gallery is maintained.

GRAND JURY REPORT

St. Louis gives a splendid example of how serious the public are considering this question. In that city a grand jury was in session for four months and two-thirds of a lengthy report submitted dealt with recommendations for the safety of the citizens of the city.

Undoubtedly much of these facts bear on accidents on streets of the different cities, nevertheless, it shows how public opinion is shaping in the United States in regard to careless drivers. There is no reason in the world why a driver of a motor car cannot proceed along a city street or a country road with full control of his machine. Automobiles are built for business and pleasure and not for the purpose of killing people, but they are not fool proof and probably never will be.

The Chicago Tribune printed an editorial recently as follows: "In emphasizing the great number of deaths and injuries caused by motor car accidents, The Tribune is trying to bring home to the average motorist that a great majority of mishaps are the result of carelessness.

PEDESTRIANS CARELESS

"It is an aphorism that an automobile must not only watch himself but the other fellow as well. Drivers often are victims of the carelessness of others. And this is just as true of pedestrians as motorists.

"Too many pedestrians fail to observe the simple precaution of "stop, look and listen." Too many pedestrians insist upon personal privilege to the point of disastrous collision with an automobile. A motorist may plainly be beyond his rights by speeding, by thrusting his car over a crossing, or by driving on the wrong side of the road. The fact that a motorist is guilty of gross law violation hardly compensates the pedestrian who persists in martyrdom to establish the legality of his position and the lawlessness of motorists.

"A pedestrian, haughtily conscious of his right to cross a street, will saunter casually, though the pavement be slippery, and though there is not the slightest assurance that the approaching motor, tons of steel, will not resist the brakes and skid down upon him. There is no question here of the pedestrian's rights; the motorist clearly may be at fault, but what principle has been reinforced after the pedestrian has been killed or injured?

AT RAILWAY CROSSINGS

Investigations have clearly shown that often motorists will not take proper precautions at railway crossings, appearing to act in practically the same manner as the pedestrian in the above quotation. They seem to forget that the train, thousands of tons of steel and wood, has perhaps gathered a momentum since its last stop that would either send the train tumbling into the ditch, killing many passengers and doing thousands of dollars of damage by the sudden application of brakes, or that it might skid far enough to mean the death of all those in the motor car and the destruction of the car.

A swiftly moving train cannot stop as quickly as a motor car and a passenger train carries a heavier load of human freight than many motor cars can do. Motorists should constantly remember this. They should slow down and look for approaching trains. A few minutes at a railway crossing may save your life. It may save the lives of many passengers.

An engineer will probably be made unfit when he hits your motor car. Statistics prove that many engineers become physically unfit for their positions through just such accidents. It takes away their nerves.

U.S.A. STATISTICS.

According to the annual report of the National Highway Protective Society, dated January 1, 1918, there were 455 persons killed by automobiles on the national highways of New York state including New York city, in 1912 and 837 persons killed by automobiles on these highways in 1917—an increase of approximately 100 per cent. in five years. The Society's report furnishes proof, besides railroad experience and records, that this railroad grade crossing slaughter was due to recklessness and the assisting companions, who almost invariably accompany drivers, and that these are the factors to be dealt with vigorously and rigorously if there is to be a cessation of street and railroad grade crossing accidents.

The alarming increase in the number of accidents to motors at highway crossings, with the attending shattering of the nerves of enginemen and their incapacitation for the very responsible duties of their positions caused the Illinois Central Railroad Company some time ago to have observations made at certain highway crossings on their system for the purpose of noting the conduct of persons about to cross their track. It was seen that seventy-five per cent. of the people neither stopped, looked or listened for approaching trains, but crossed the railway without apparently the slightest thought for the safety of either themselves or anyone else.

NEWS WEEKLY SERMON

By Rev. G. D. Armstrong

Jesus saith unto him, Thomas, because thou hast seen me, thou hast believed; Blessed are they that have not seen and yet have believed.—Jno. 20:29.

I once heard John Morley give an address to the students of a University, and in doing so he left a statement to be cherished in the minds of those who heard him. It was this: "Learn to know when a thing is proved."

This maxim may well serve to guide us in these days of intellectual groping and spiritual restlessness. While we hold tenaciously to the truths which have come to us by tradition, let us not be blind to the revelations which the future may unfold, avoiding on the one hand a fear of that which is strange and new, and upon the other a spirit of credulity which would lead us to accept without questioning theories which will not stand the test of reason. We shall make progress in mind and spirit when we learn to discriminate between the true and the false, the evil and the good.

Among the varied types of mind represented in the circle of Christ's disciples we find one who reflects the enquiring temper of the present age.

Our text presents to us a personality and a problem. We find here a man who is not easily convinced—a sceptical kind of man who is not willing to take truth on hearsay; who does not rely upon the testimony of others, but who insists upon investigating and proving things for himself. A man, however, who is not wedded to his unbelief but is essentially honest in his mental outlook. Such a man justifies the statement of Tennyson, "There dwells more faith in honest doubt, believe me, than in half the creeds." Thomas was loyal to his Master, as also to himself, and when convinced of the truth was ready to go anywhere in loyal devotion to the One he at last recognized as his Lord and his God. Thomas, of all the disciples, reflects most truly the scientific temperament, and it should be noted that Jesus was ready to fully meet the tests which Thomas found necessary to satisfy his mind.

The problem which Thomas faced is one that looms largely in the mind of man today, "If a man die, shall he live again?" Does personality persist; eternal form still dividing the living soul from the universe? And granted that the soul is immortal, can those who have passed within the veil communicate with those who remain on earth? These questions are active in the public mind, and enquiry will not be stifled by the dogmatic assertions of an Archbishop, years ago: "If these communications confirm the Bible, we read them not; if they contradict it, we heed them not." The age in which we live is not in any mood to have its questions unanswered or its attitude toward truth held in contempt by those who ridicule instead of reason.

The controversy of the nineteenth century over mind and matter has reasserted itself, and the contending voices will not be easily silenced. So long as extremists will maintain on the one hand "the nothingness of material existence," or on the other the idea that thought, feeling and will are but secretions of the brain and dependent upon it for existence, so long will the mind of man seek for the truth which lies between these extreme views. Just as astronomers at last discovered a planet which scientific enquiry had led them to believe must exist, to explain facts which they had already learned; so we are justified in assuming that neither matter or spirit exist to the mutual exclusion of the other, but we shall surely some day discover some form of life in which their essential oneness is revealed. We are living in a universe in which both time and space are infinite. The greatest discovery of all is the discovery of ourselves. The law of "the conservation of energy" in the material world has its counterpart in the realm of the spirit in the sublime truth of the immortality of the soul. The great mystery which lies about us is found in our positive existence, life; and not in the shades of death. Continuity, growth, progress, are as truly God's laws as is gravitation. While undoubtedly spiritualism has been exploited for financial gain and credulous minds lend themselves all too easily a prey to those who lie in wait to deceive; and while it is also true that many of the conclusions arrived at seem to be the verdict of fond affection rather than sound judgment it should not be overlooked that in very many respects the phenomena of spiritualism corresponds with that recorded with the resurrection of Jesus, and to prove one false will lessen our faith in the reality of the other. Our faith in the risen life of Christ, our doctrine of the Holy Spirit justifies the opinion that not only does individuality survive but that discarnate spirits may commune with loved ones in the flesh. The defect of spiritualism is that it magnifies mere incidents of our personal existence beyond the great life processes of the eternal mind. It is difficult to think that Thomas had the temerity to thrust his hand into the wounded side of the Master when his whole soul was flooded with the radiance of His personal presence.

The discovery of a new planet is assuredly an interesting event, but it is a mere incident compared with the treasury of astronomical knowledge we already possess. So the New Revelation (as Conan Doyle terms it) while it looms largely in the minds of those whose interest in the things of the spirit is comparatively recent, is but a slight addition to the spiritual knowledge which man has already gained of his relationship to the Kingdom of God.

It is interesting to note that the attitude of antagonism taken by many religious leaders toward scientific investigation of the things of the spirit is a repetition of that taken when scholars began to scientifically and critically study the Scriptures.

They had an unreasoning fear that the knowledge thus obtained would destroy the faith of mankind in the "Authority of the Holy Word of God." History has shown that the church has nothing of value to lose, and much to gain from the reverent, painstaking scientific study of the Bible. Historical criticism has made a valuable contribution to the faith of the Christian church and has placed religion upon a broader and firmer foundation. Such study requires infinite patience, expert judgment, rare scholarship and the conclusions arrived at are the result of thorough investigation and ripened wisdom. The experience thus gained assures us that as science turns her lamps to explore new avenues of truth we may reasonably expect that the satisfaction of seeing things scientifically established will enable many more to share the blessedness of those who, having not seen, have yet believed the marvellous truth of God.

"The great question for men to settle is not one of existence, but of relation: not whether they will live after death, but whether there is life for them now. It is how they stand in reference to God and how the estrangement and alienation caused by sin may be removed and fellowship with the Most High be restored. In other words, the most important question is that of a personal relation to a personal God."

Supplying the Demand for Royal Purple Calf Meal

This baby food for young animals is partially pre-digested, and can be fed to the youngest animals with perfect safety. It WILL NOT cause stomach or bowel trouble, which are serious ailments in young animals. Royal Purple is a sure preventive for scouring.

Calves Gain Rapidly Without Milk

When the calves are 3 or 4 days old they can be fed Royal Purple Calf Meal and raised just as well without one drop of milk. What prominent breeders remark:

Mr. Geo. W. Collins, Plainfield, Ont., writes:

"Gentlemen,—In regard to your Calf Meal, I think you have the best on the market, as people who have bought it give it great praise. Some have taken their calves off sweet milk, and feed them nothing but your Calf Meal and water, and say they are doing as well on it as they did on the whole milk."

To Whom It May Concern: Uxbridge, Aug. 5th

This is to certify that I have secured your "Royal Purple" Calf Meal from our druggist, Mr. T. G. Nicholls, of Uxbridge, and can speak of this meal in the highest terms. I have used other calf meals, but this one is the best I ever tried. I never saw a calf gain more rapidly and thrive better than mine did while using your "Royal Purple" Calf Meal. I can cheerfully recommend it to all our stockmen who wish to raise large, healthy calves."—Stanley W. Crozall.

Note—The above Mr. Crozall keeps a large herd of pure-bred Holstein cattle, and is an excellent authority on Calf Foods.

Royal Purple Calf Meal is equally good for young colts, lambs and young pigs. Put up in 25-lb., 50-lb. and 100-lb. bags. Secure it from our dealer in your town.

MANUFACTURERS AGENTS

SNAPPY HEADS

"Women want to vote like men, but they don't make good at men's trades," yawned Alex Winton, as he watched Dixie Lowell pick up a piece of type from the case and place it in the "stick" upside down.

Dixie, perched on a high stool, bit her lip and adjusted the letter correctly.

"Men are so egotistical," she remarked somewhat, sharply. "And how about the women in war work?"

Alex sharpened a pencil.

"Oh, they were all right as elevator girls and theatre ushers and the like," he admitted, replacing the pencil behind his ear. "Don't misunderstand me. I'm not saying women lack intelligence, but I do contend that they seldom succeed in men's work where skill is required."

The scene was the composing room of the Elkton "Observer." "Published Weekly; Editor Samuel Phelps; Assistant Editor, Alex Winton; Terms, $1 Per Year in Advance; Advertising Rates on Application."

Dixie was collector for Berkwith's department store, and her duties frequently took her past the "Observer" office. Occasionally she stopped to see Alex and try her hand at setting type. She was engaged to Alex and they were to be married when he "got there."

"Typesetting is so fascinating," she had just remarked. "I wonder if I could learn and work at it?"

Upon which he made the remark set down as the opening sentence of this story.

"Well, I must go," she said presently, having "distributed" the type she had set up. "By the way, Alex, you've been in the newspaper business some time. Why don't you try it in a big city?"

She got down from the stool and went to the door.

"Perhaps I will" he told her, and there was a hint of swaggering as he walked toward the editorial room. "I could make good all right."

She opened the door.

"Anyhow," she said as a parting shot, "women have the determination that wins. Thek got the vote; just remember that."

"Alex has his share of egotism," she murmured as she went up the street. "Still I can't help caring a lot for the dear boy."

Soon after Dixie announced she was leaving Elkton.

"Whenever you 'get there' I'm ready to become Mrs. Winton," she told Alex by way of reassurance. "I just feel that I ought to try the big city. My Margaret lives there, you know, and she's been wanting me to go there for some time. You'd better think it over and try your hand on the big dailies."

A year passed. Dixie and Alex corresponded regularly. Dixie had a job and was enjoying her work, she told him. "Better come on down and get into the big game," she urged in every letter.

At the end of the year Alex decided she had the right idea.

"I can make good on any of the papers," he assured himself. "This small town training is the best thing possible. I ought to be able to hold any job."

So Alex followed Dixie to the big city. He could not see that she was changed a bit, but her temerity in trying to make a place for herself in the city had made him more in love with her than ever. He felt ashamed of himself for not leaving Elkton sooner.

"Where are you working, Dixie?" he inquired the first night he called on her at her aunt's home. "Got a job collecting?"

She smiled and countered.

"What would you expect a woman to do—without a trade? I was a collector in Elkton, so what would I be likely to do here?

Alex found a room and started out to make the rounds of newspaper offices. There were only three, one morning and two evening, for, strictly speaking, it was not a large city. It was large only from an Elkton viewpoint.

At the first place he called—the "Evening Journal"—he was given the position of sporting editor for a trial. Newspaper men were scarce, and five years of experience was deemed sufficient to warrant trying Alex out. He neglected to tell where he had the experience, simply stating he had "handled sports." As a matter of fact he had handled everything from weddings and killings to editorials and personals—everything except telegraph, of which there was none on the "Observer."

That night he informed Dixie that he was to start work in the morning on the "Journal."

"Fine!" she said. "You'll make good, too, Alex; and then——"

"And then—" he echoed, and he dreamed all night about Dixie.

The job did not prove so easy as Alex had expected. The Elkton "Observer" and the "Journal" had radically different ideas as to how "copy" should be handled. The "Observer's" headlines were much like labels, while the "Journal's" had to contain verbs and be "snappy". However Alex did his best and refrained from telling his co-workers "We do it this way in Elkton."

When the last edition went to press Alex congratulated himself that he had done a fair day's work. His hopes fell when he looked at the sporting page, for the headlines bore faint resemblance to the ones he had puzzled over. However, he kept his own counsel.

The next day the managing editor paid him a compliment.

"Nice snappy heads," he said. "That's the way we like them."

The work came a little easier, but again when the last edition appeared Alex could not account for the strange lack of resemblance between the heads he had written and the ones that appeared over his "stuff." He wondered who had made the changes, and knew it could not have been the managing editor because the latter had commended him on his way of doing things.

Yes, Alex found big city newspaper work far different from the Elkton variety, but he stuck to it. Three days after he started to work he discovered a headline in the paper just as he had written it, and his delight was equal to that of a cub reporter who discovers one of his stories on the front page.

Be it said to his credit that Alex made clean breast of the matter to Dixie.

"I thought it would be easy," he said, "but it's hard. I'm a rank failure as a sporting editor. My heads are all changed, and I've got to admit they're improved—by somebody. I'm not making good, Dixie, but I'm going to stick to it until I do 'get there' unless I'm fired."

Alex steadily improved during the next two weeks although most of the headlines on his page were not the product of his mind. The managing editor commended him several times for the appearance of the sporting section, and at times Alex felt like confessing that it was not his chance to deserve the praise, and he felt that a little more experience would equip him.

One day one of the proofreaders came and questioned him about a headline.

"There's too many letters in the second line and it won't fit," said the proofreader. "Please substitute a word."

By chance Alex thought of a shorter word that was a good synonym and the difficulty was surmounted. As the proofreader started away he turned back and said:

"By the way, a lot of your heads have been changed by the head setter. They didn't follow copy, but they made sense, so I let them go. Is that all right?"

Alex assured him that it was. Following the clue he went out into the composing room for the purpose of thanking his unknown assistant. He was directed to a linotype machine.

"There's the head machine," said the composing foreman.

Alex went around the high counter which is called the "bank" and found a linotyper singing a "ingle-jingle refrain.

The operator, sensing his presence, turned with a hand on the elevator handle, and looked up at him.

The operator was Dixie Lowell.

CITY CHILDREN LEARN FARMING

Except for the interest and untiring efforts of individual teachers, agriculture would never have found a place in schools where it is being successfully taught today. To make the work successful requires untiring effort on the part of the teachers and the doing of many things not regularly expected of them. In the Agricultural Gazette for March, Norman Davies, B.A., teacher of science and agriculture at Renfrew, shows that agriculture in the school curriculum is valuable from a practical as well as a pedagogic standpoint. The lessons serve to train the mind and enlarge the general ideas of the pupil. School gardening is not intended to be vocational but rather its function is to broaden the mind and make the pupil better able, through small experiments in nature's own great laboratory, to decide as to his future course in life.

M. D. OF PINE LAKE

The Council of the Municipal District of Pine Lake, No. 339, met at the municipal offices, Smith & Gaetz block, on Tuesday afternoon. There were present Reeve Fiske, Councillors Reay, Pixley, Darrugh, Walde, McKinnon and Secretary-Treasurer W. E. Trueman.

The committee on furnishing the Municipal office was thanked for their work.

Mr. McKinnon had not been able as yet to meet the M. D. of Arthur re accounts between them.

Mr. G. W. Smith brought up the matter of having a road to the siding at Tuttle. Without this road the siding was of little use to the district. Mr. Smith will get up a petition to have a road opened up from two directions.

Letters from Departments

The Deputy Minister of Municipalities notified the Council that the equalization of land values for the purpose of the levy of all Provincial taxes could not be made in time to proceed on that basis for the 1920 assessment, and that the former Supplementary tax rate of four cents per acre and the scheduled Educational tax. He also urged the pushing on of the equalization of the assessment of lands in the municipality.

The Department of Public Works wrote re providing for surveys: surveys applied for before January, 1919, would be made free; since, $15 per day.

The Salvation Army asked help for their rescue work in Alberta. The Secretary-Treasurer will look up what powers the Council has to make such grants, and the matter will be dealt with at the next meeting.

Grants to Fairs

Mr. G. W. Smith presented the case of the Red Deer Fair for a grant, pointing out its value to the district, and the contributions made by the Dominion Government, the Provincial Government, and the city. It was decided to make a grant of $250, to be divided pro rata of the divisions, the proportion of Div. 1, some $40, to be granted to the Milnerton fair.

Road Grader Explained

Mr. McIntyre, for the U. G. G., presented the work of the Adams grader, from a small model of grader and road. Their big 12 foot grader was operated by a 30-60 tractor. This grader can build a road 28 ft. wide, from ditch to ditch, with the ditch 18 inches deep, with a road rounded from ditch to ditch and left in such a condition that an automobile can run over it at the rate of 30 miles an hour, when finished. This style of road they guaranteed to build while the engine travels eight rounds. He pointed out the advantages of back sloping, steerable tongues, light traction, and adjustable leaning wheels. The graders had 7, 8, 10 and 12 foot blades.

Tax Rate Increased to $14 a Quarter

It was decided to raise the tax rate from 7¢ an acre to 8¾¢, or to $14 per quarter.

Rate of Pay for Work Increased

The rate of pay for work was fixed at 75¢ per hour for man and team, $1 for man and two teams, 40¢ for labor and 60¢ for foreman. There was considerable discussion of these figures. The foreman's rate is supposed to be for time actually put in on the job in supervision. These rates are increased from 60¢ to 75¢ for man and team, and 40¢ to 60¢ for foreman: there had been difficulty in getting foremen; Councillors McKinnon and Pixley, however, voted in the minority for 50¢ for foreman. The other two rates are the same as last year.

It was decided to insure the office furniture for $600. The Secretary-Treasurer was given authority to pay the monthly light and telephone accounts.

Accounts

The following accounts were ordered to be paid: B. C. Northey, $6.38; Manning-Sutherland Lumber Co., $34.40; $98.73; Stewart Bros., $30.05; Petty accounts for postage, etc., 1919-1920, $136.14; Gaetz-Cornett Co. $7.20; News Publishing Co., $18.25; Day Hardware Co., $3.30; N. White, $44.30; Western Municipal News, $77.42; England & Haste, $10; Red Deer Tent & Mattress Co., $35.05; Office Specialty Manufacturing Co., $7.25; Western General Electric Co., $12.35; Attorney-General (mothers' allowance) $15; Red Deer Advocate, $82.92. Total, $642.24.

Deputation Re Road

Mayor Lord appeared before the Council to ask support for a deputation to have the road from Red Deer to Netis made a Class A road, as had been understood from the Department. The Reeve and Councillor McKinnon were appointed to join the deputation.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, May 31.

The Council adjourned at 5 o'clock.

A LITTLE NONSENSE NOW AND THEN

HALF A LEAGUE, HALF—

The attorney for the gas company was making an address. "Think of the good the gas company has done. If I were permitted to make a pun, I would say, in the words of the immortal poet, 'Honor the Light Brigade.'"

Voice of the consumer from the audience: "Oh, what a charge they made!"

OH BUGS!

Two microbes sat on a pantry shelf
And watched with expression pained
The milk man's stunts; both said at once,
Our relations are getting strained.

A MATTER OF NECESSITY.

She (pouting)—"I believe you would sooner play cards with papa than sit in the parlor with me."

He—"No, darling, I wouldn't; but we must have the money to get married on."

EVIDENTLY A POOR SPELLER

Dictator (to steno., who is taking his letter down on the typewriter)—"What's the matter, do I go too fast for you?"

Steno.—"No; but I am sometimes spellbound by your eloquence."

NOT ALL THERE

Peppery Female—"Why weren't you in the army?"

He (with one arm)—"For the same reason, ma'am, that you weren't in the beauty chorus—physical disability."

AND THEN THE BATTLE STARTED

Wife (trying to think of the Hague)—"Let's see, what is the name of the place where so much was done toward promoting peace in the world?"

Hub—"Reno, my dear."—Boston Transcript.

CONSIDERATE LIGHTNING.

Lightning struck the house of Norris W. Miles, of Whitman, near Boston, recently, and lifted a rug from the floor in a chamber and spread it on the bed, where it caught the plaster that fell.

A rather unique innovation at the Renfrew Collegiate Institute is the poultry house on the school grounds in which pullets are housed and cared for throughout the year. Records are kept and practical instruction on poultry raising is given by the teacher in charge.

The Gray Tractor With the Wide Drive Drum

What the Farmer Wants in a Tractor

This may seem easy to answer and the first natural statement is "one that works." Merely "working," however, is not enough for the farmer of today.

It is only a few years ago that all tractors were of large horse-power—cumbersome machines which ate up more than they saved, and their life was short. Then Tractor Manufacturers went to the other extreme, and many small machines were put on the market, their low price being their only practical feature.

The years devoted to these tractors, while costly to many farmers, blazed the trail to successful power farming for the farmer of today and tomorrow. The farmer himself, is now helping to solve the problem by taking a keener interest in the subject and deciding upon his needs rather than letting the mechanical engineer or hopeful inventor lay down his requirements for him.

The Tractor of today "works." Some work more than others and some longer. So the farmer now must look the "makes" over and determine which one fits his requirements best and which in the long run will bring him the most returns.

Experience has shown that tractor owners load their machines up with more work than they are intended for. The practical manufacturer has therefor given his tractor more reserve power than its rating indicates.

Since tractors are not required to work constantly throughout the year, they must be dependable at the periods they are most needed, whether the weather be sizzling hot or freezing cold. The cooling and lubricating systems, as well as the materials in all parts carrying strain, must be designed and built with greatest care. Otherwise a tractor is a luxury, not an economy. Repairs are expensive, but the delays they cause are usually much more expensive.

The weight of the tractor for the average farm must be low enough to permit its passage over the bridges and culverts of its neighborhood. And its weight must be so balanced that it will not tip, rear or pack the soil when pulling a load. While tractors must be of sufficient weight to assure rigidity and strength, the lighter a tractor can be made and still serve every purpose, the more economical it will be in operation. It takes fuel and oil to carry the tractor's own weight around.

Depreciation is a factor that farmers have found more important to figure than they at first thought. More money spent in first cost, providing that "first cost" has proven its worth, is a good investment. The fact that a tractor burns cheap fuel does not indicate it is more economical. Cheap fuel usually shortens a tractor's life.

Farmers want tractors that will leave their fields in good condition. The standard 2-drive-wheel machine leaves ruts or wheel tracks in soft fields. The soil over which these wheels have passed is not of the same texture as that between the wheels. It has been found that the land pulled by the drive wheels plows up to better advantage than the land which is not rolled. Uniform rolling of all soil ahead of the plows is therefore demanded by farmers who have made a study of this feature.

Government investigations have shown that four-plow tractors give the most returns upon the money invested. Three-plow rigs have enjoyed larger sale because of their more popular price, but many farmers have found that the power of the 3-plow rig is not quite enough to do the quick work necessary at certain periods. This refers to both pulley and drawbar. Tractors of more than 4-plow capacity are too expensive for the average farm.

The Gray Transmission

NO DIFFERENTIAL—NO BEVEL GEARS

Transmission is responsible for getting the power from the motor to the drive drum. Only two features are really essential to it. First, it must transmit the power economically without big loss through friction, and secondly, it must be built to stand up year after year so it will continue to perform the same good work constantly that it did when the machine was new.

Efficiency, economy and strength are all present to a high degree in the GRAY TRACTOR transmission.

In the transmission case there are but six gears which handle the forward and reverse speeds. These are all cut steel gears of the spur type, no bevel gears being used. The largest gear transmitting the slowest speed, is cut from cast steel, and the other five are cut from drop forged steel blanks, which have been carefully heat treated and ground true to size. All run in the same oil-tight and dust-proof case. It is not possible to make better gears than are used on the GRAY TRACTOR.

All gears are mounted on shafts that run in Hyatt Roller Bearings.

The gears are of a size that gives them a large margin of safety, and since they run in a continual oil bath that is absolutely protected from the dust and grit, they will wear year after year without the need of replacement or danger of breakage.

THE WIDE DRIVE DRUM

The WIDE DRIVE DRUM of the GRAY TRACTOR, together with the two front wheels, rolls a strip the entire width of the tractor, 70 inches. This strip is rolled only once, and the light weight of the tractor is evenly distributed over its wide traction surface.

Another important feature is that the Gray never leaves ridges or wheel ruts in a field. At seeding this is especially important as an even field gives each planted row equal chance at moisture and soil consistency.

BELT POWER

The GRAY TRACTOR motor delivers its power to the belt pulley direct, without the use of gears.

The Best Type of Tractor for Soft Ground

Owatonna, Minn., May 23, 1919.

The Gray Tractor Co., Minneapolis, Minn.
Gentlemen:

In regard to the Gray Tractor, it was the only machine successfully operated around here this spring. All other types that are used here, and their name is legion, had to give up. It was simply marvelous how your machine behaved in our peat bog of over 40 acres. This peat in many places is 6 ft. deep, part of it being over 8 ft. deep, with a grade of only 1-10 of an inch to 100 ft. of a waterfall, the tile being only 150 ft. apart.

After years of study on the tractor proposition I will say, without fear of contradiction, that the Gray Tractor is the most ideal machine for Southern Minnesota conditions. I am hoping to see the day when we can form a Gray Tractor club and so work co-operatively together.

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE H. R. BRUSH.

THE POTATO CROP

(Experimental Farms Note)

The potato is one of our most important crops, and yet it is one that very often does not receive the attention it should. It is the practice of many farmers to leave the planting of potatoes until practically all other crops are in. With the exception of, perhaps, some parts of the Maritime Provinces, this late planting means a much smaller yield than there would be if the planting were done before the middle or by the middle of May. By the end of May or beginning of June the seed potatoes have sprouted so much that when these are broken off at planting time the new shoots will not come on with the same vigour as they did early in the season. Furthermore, it is important for the potato to get a good root system before the hot weather sets in.

It is of the greatest importance to use good seed. Two lots of seed of the same variety which look very much alike may give a difference of three hundred or more bushels per acre in the crop, as has been shown in experiments at the Experimental Farm, Ottawa. In 1919, for instance, one lot of Irish Cobbler yielded at the rate of 378 bushels per acre and another 37 bushels per acre. The best Green Mountain Stock yielded 330 bushels per acre and one of the poorest 46 bushels per acre.

If possible, one should know where the seed was grown the previous year that he is about to use. If it came from a crop, the plants of which grew vigorously until cut down by frost, then, if free from disease, it will, as a rule, yield a much better crop than if it is from a crop the plants of which withered in the middle of summer and the tubers lay in hot soil the rest of the season. This year when the price of potatoes is so high there will be a temptation to use small potatoes for seed. If these small potatoes come from a good crop the previous year the results are likely to be satisfactory if the season is favorable, but if they are from a small crop the previous year when the plants dried up early the plants this year are weak and the yield not very good. Good sized sets of from one and a half to two ounces have been found the most satisfactory taking one year with another, although if the season is particularly favorable smaller sets will produce a good crop, but one cannot tell what the season will be, hence it is better to be on the safe side.

The distance of planting which has been found most economical in most places in Canada is, rows two and a half to three feet apart, and sets twelve to fourteen inches apart in the rows. While quite shallow planting has given the highest average yields at Ottawa, it is necessary to plant about four inches deep for field culture to enable one to harrow before the potatoes are up without pulling up the sets.

The varieties which have been most generally satisfactory in Canada are Irish Cobbler as an early potato and Green Mountain as a main crop or later variety. Other varieties which cannot be distinguished from Green Mountain and are included in the Green Mountain group are Gold Coin, Uncle Sam, Wee MacGregor and Delaware. The Dooley of the rural group has done well in the warmer parts of Ontario, and in coast climates Burbank is also popular.

THE MAN WHO WINS.

If you think you are beaten, you are,
If you think that you dare not, you don't,
If you'd like to win, but you think you can't,
It's almost a "cinch" you won't,
If you think you'll lose, you've lost,
For out in the world you find
Success begins with a fellow's will.
It's all in the state of mind.

Full many a race is lost
Ere even a step is run,
And many a coward fails
Ere even his work's begun.
Think big, and your deeds will grow,
Think small, and you'll fall behind,
Think that you can, and you will,
It's all in the state of mind.

If you think you're outclassed, you are,
You've got to think high to rise,
You've got to be sure of yourself before
You can ever win a prize.
Life's battles don't always go
To the stronger or faster man.
But sooner or later the man who wins
Is the fellow who thinks he can.

MUST WIN TITLE OR LOSE FORTUNE

To win a title or lose a fortune of £250,000 is the alternative facing Captain Charles William Wallace, D.S.O., of London. His father, C. W. Wallace, willed him that sum on condition that he should become a member of the Baronetcy or some other superior privileged Order. The son appealed the decision of Mr. Justice Eve, who declared the bequest good in law, but the appeal has been dismissed.

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

Royal Yeast has been the standard yeast in Canada for over 50 years, and it is a well known fact that bread made with Royal Yeast possesses a greater amount of nourishment than that made with any other.

BRITAIN AWARE OF IRISH AGITION IN U.S. WILL DO NOTHING

Bonar Law Tells Bottomley That Government Is Not Prepared To Make Any Representations.

London, May 6.—The subject of the support given to "the Irish republic" by some persons in the United States, came up in the house of commons today. Horatio Bottomley asked whether the government was aware that appeals for aid in the sale of bonds addressed by De Valera as "president of the Irish republic" were still appearing in American newspapers and were supported by the governors of various states, and that whether Great Britain proposed to make representations on the matter to President Wilson.

Bonar Law, replying in behalf of the government, said it was understood that such appeals were still appearing in certain American newspapers, but he was not in a position to say whether they were supported by any government. Great Britain, he added, was not prepared to make any representations.

Mr. Bottomley asked whether Mr. Law had seen the announcement that already £2,000,000 had been subscribed to this fund and that triumphant processions had gone through the principal streets of some of the cities of the United States in celebration of the event, and that De Valera had been entertained by state governors. He asked if Mr. Bonar Law did not consider that in international law this amounted to an unfriendly act and whether the new instructions would be given to the British ambassador.

The government leader said he had not seen a statement of the specific facts named, but it did not alter his view regarding Great Britain's right course, namely, that it was not always wise to take action to which the country had the legal right.

Capt. William Benn wanted to know whether the government would take steps to halt the malicious campaign which he declared was destroying the friendly relations between this country and the United States. To this Mr. Bonar Law did not reply.

Mr. Chadwick asked whether Mr. Bonar Law was aware that "This cut law" was recently honored with the freedom of New Orleans and whether any representations had been made to the United States in the face of this "deliberate insult by an ostensibly friendly power."

Mr. Bonar Law answered that he was quite satisfied the good feeling of the United States was not represented at all by such demonstrations and he did not believe that any action the British government could take against them would have any other effect than to make the relation worse.

CHLORINE GAS CURES INFLUENZA

The American Chemical Society, in session at St. Louis, has reported that tests have proved chlorine gas to be an excellent preventative of influenza. During the recent epidemic eight hundred gas treatments were administered to 134 volunteers, and only one developed influenza.

FRENCH SPY SENTENCED TO DEATH

Louis Bouinie, who in 1914 denounced to the Germans a French soldier, her neighbor, Michel Amedee, has been condemned to death by a court martial. Amedee was executed a half-hour before an order for his pardon reached the German officer to whose charge he had been remanded.

FACTS ABOUT CANADA

Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance: "Canada is better off to-day than it ever was before."

Canada is enjoying a prosperity never dreamed of in pre-war years. Canada, as a matter of fact, was never as well off, in a material way, as she is to-day. Capital is coming into the country at an enormous rate; development of resources is being launched upon in tremendous measure; industries are surfeited with orders; unemployment is rare and wages high, and strikes are fewer than at any time for the past five or six years.—Ottawa Journal.

Canada entered the war with a debt of $42 per head, and emerged with a debt of about $250 per head.

Canada emerged from the war one of the world's strongest nations financially.

Canada's financial position, as disclosed in budget speech of June 6, 1919: Pre-war national debt, $335,996,850; estimated debt after demobilization $1,950,000,000; present Dominion securities held in Great Britain, $362,700,000; held in United States $150,873,000; held in Canada, $1,510,000,000; pre-war annual interest, $12,893,504; present annual interest, $115,000,000; 1918 pensions, $17,460,000; 1919, $30,000,000; future year's pensions, $40,000,000; demobilization and gratuities, $300,000,000; estimated total expenditure, 1918-19, $620,000,000; estimated revenue, 1918-19, $280,000,000; estimated deficit to be covered by loan, $340,000,000.

Canadians hold three-quarters of national debt securities.

Canada's income war tax assessments levied for 1917, 53,260; collected, $14,346,331.

Canada's failures, 1919, 629; 1914 (first war year) 2,390.

Canada's customs revenue, calendar year, 1919, $169,071,034; increase of $14,345,623 in year.

Canada's Business Profits War Tax yielded nearly $100,000,000 in four years of its existence.

Provincial Legislature expenditures aggregated $65,000,000 during fiscal period ending in 1918; $53,744,008 in 1913.

Canada's fur exports steadily increasing. For year ending June, 1919, $14,847,604.

SCHLESWIG GIVEN BACK TO DENMARK

Enthusiastic Scenes Accompany Return of Duchy to Original Owners.

Copenhagen, May 5.—Danish troops today occupied northern Schleswig, the people of which on February 10 last, in a plebiscite provided for in the peace treaty, voted by a large majority for a return of this part of the territory to Danish nationality.

The Germans had been in control there since 1866. Enthusiastic scenes accompanied the arrival of the Danes at Sonderburg. There the entire population, among them a number of aged persons who still remember the ends of German shells on the town and about 50 veterans of the war of 1864 were out to cheer them. A force of Danes also arrived in Hadersleven and were welcomed by a crowd estimated to aggregate 20,000. Danish and French troops marched through beflagged streets to the barracks where, amid great rejoicing, the German colors were hauled down and the Danish flag was hoisted. At Lenden, British troops were drawn up to receive the Danes.

Admiral Sheppard, commander of the allied occupation forces, will officially transfer the military authority to the Danish commander at Sonderberg.

In the war of 1864 Prussia and Austria wrested the Duchies of Schleswig and Holstein from Denmark. Two years later Prussia's victory over Austria resulted in the incorporation of the duchies in the dominions of Prussia with the provision that the people ultimately decide their nationality by plebiscite. This agreement was never kept by Prussia and was repudiated by her on the formation of the German empire in 1871.

GERMANS PAY $238 FOR SUIT OF CLOTHES

Washington, May 5.—The family food budget in the United States in February was exactly twice the sum expended for the same class of food in February, 1913, according to department of labor statistics.

During approximately the same period in Great Britain, the increase was only 130 per cent., while in Italy it was 187 per cent. Germany outranked all countries enumerated with an increase of 224 per cent. Increase in prices of clothing in Germany, the statistics show, exceeds 1000 per cent. A man's suit, which before the war cost $20, now sells for $238.

During the year ending last February, in the United States, sugar increased in price 76 per cent. Potatoes went over the top to the tune of a 275 per cent. increase since February, 1913.

HER CASE SEEMED HOPELESS

But "Fruit-a-tives" Brought Health and Strength

29 St. Rose St., Montreal.

"I am writing you to tell you that I owe my life to "Fruit-a-tives". This medicine relieved me when I had given up hope of ever being well.

I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia—had suffered for years; and nothing I took did me any good.

I read about "Fruit-a-tives" and tried them. After taking a few boxes, of this wonderful medicine made from fruit juices, I am now entirely well"

GERMAN WARSHIPS ALLOCATED TO ALLIES

London, May 4.—Six former German warships, the Baden, Heligoland, Posen, Rhineland, Westphalian and Nuremburg, and 124 submarines, have been allocated to Great Britain, according to an announcement in the house of commons.

The United States will get the Ostriesland and Frankfort.

According to the announcement France has been awarded the Thuringen and Emden and 28 submarines. Japan will get the Oldenburg, Nassau and Augustburg, and Italy will get seven submarines. The ships scuttled at Scapa Flow, says the announcement, are to go to Grat Britain. Allocation of the remaining 12 light cruisers, 59 destroyers and 50 torpedo boats, the commons are informed, depends on the selections made by France and Italy from the ships to be surrendered, under the Austrian treaty.

THE HAIR BRUSH HURT

Unable to bear the pangs of conscience longer, an American living in Michigan, recently returned to the Canadian Northern Railway a hair brush he had appropriated from a sleeping car eight years ago. "As I have entered the service of Christ," a letter which accompanied the hair brush read, "I must return it with the confession, humiliating though it may be. It is not much, but it is enough to keep me out of heaven."

HUBBY NOT WELCOME

Charles Hubbard of Fonthill married a girl on Tuesday of last week, but he told the parents only Sunday night. The father at once put his new son-in-law out and locked the girl up, and would not let her join her husband. Hubbard laid an information against H. Simpson, the father, and in the police court the father agreed to let the girl go. She will be allowed to visit her parents if she is alone. The husband is taboo.

BRITISH PAPERS RAISE PRICE

An increase of two cents on all British Sunday papers is announced owing to the 500 per cent. increase in the price of newsprint paper compared with pre-war rates.

$4 Saved Two Fingers

The fingers were those of Mr. J. W. Besnard, of 539 Craig St. E., Montreal. He says, —"A falling beam badly smashed my hand. Two fingers were so severely crushed that the doctors said they would have to be amputated. Naturally I didn't want this, so decided to try Zam-Buk first. I applied Zam-Buk daily, and by the time I had used $4 worth, the injury was completely healed. My fingers were saved!"

Just another illustration of the healing power of Zam-Buk. Accidents will happen. It may be your turn next. Better get a box and keep it handy. Accidents are less frequent than skin diseases, and remember this—

Zam-Buk is just as good for eczema, ulcers, skin diseases, and piles, as for cuts, burns, bruises.

All druggists and stores 50c. box, or $2 for $1.25. Refuse substitutes.

Buy Life Insurance Now! Why?

EVERYONE who is not a profiteer deplores the high cost of living.

The high cost of living however means that, for the present, money is of small value.

All authorities are agreed that gradually normal prices will be restored.

As soon as the supply exceeds the demand prices will begin to fall.

What has this to do with life insurance? Everything,—

If you have funds on hand to-day invest them in life insurance. This is the day of "cheap money". By the time your policies mature, it is practically certain money will have greatly increased in value and you will receive, for your cheap money, currency that will doubtless have a greatly increased purchasing power.

There are many other reasons for buying a policy to-day. No other investment is safer and more certain of satisfactory returns. Think it over—now.

Decide now—to increase your insurance—now!

Meaning of the Word "Semi-Ready"

As a trade mark name "Semi-ready was applied in 1897 to clothes tailored by the Semi-ready Company. It was a coined word, made up to identify men's clothes made by this Company.

Coupled with the name there was invented a physique system which permitted the unlimited tailoring of higher class woollens and materials without risk to the merchant of having any garments left in stock.

The trade mark name is registered, and under common law cannot be used by any other maker, nor rightly applied to any other clothes than those made in the Semi-ready tailor shops and for which we have the exclusive sale.

If you ask at any other store than ours for "Semi-ready," and you are shown something not of Semi-ready manufacture, you do not get what you ask for, which is unfair to you and to us.

If it hasn't the label in the pocket it isn't a "Semi-ready."

MRS. W. F. ROGERS GAINS 20 POUNDS

Change of Climate Was Not Necessary After She Took Tanlac, She Says.

"As long as I live I will never be able to praise Tanlac enough, for it has not only given me back my health after I had given up hope, but it has added twenty pounds to my weight," was the statement made by Mrs. W. F. Rogers, of 630 Tenth Ave. Northwest, Calgary, Alberta.

"There is nothing in the world I would exchange for the good Tanlac has done me," she continued. "Why, just to think only a short time ago I was a complete wreck and here I am now feeling as fine as I ever did in my whole life. It just seems too good to be true."

"I was in a miserable condition and I can hardly understand how I held out as long as I did. My nerves were completely shattered, and at times I couldn't bear for anyone to talk to me, and a knock or ring at the door would unnerve me. There was little need of going to bed at night for sleep was next to impossible, and I would be up reading or walking the floor when most people were sound asleep. I had almost no appetite at all, and what little I forced myself to eat didn't give me a particle of strength and for years I had been losing strength right along until I was on the verge of a complete nervous breakdown. I took every kind of medicine and treatment I ever heard of, but none of them did me any good, and I thought maybe a change of climate would help me.

"I was making arrangements for the change when I began taking Tanlac, but I soon saw such a remarkable improvement in my condition right away, that I postponed the trip for a while, and now that I am in perfect health I have called it off altogether. I have never seen such a wonderful change come over a person in all my life as the change that has come over me; I can hardly realize it myself. My nerves are as steady as they can be, no kind of noise disturbs me at all, and I can sleep fine. My appetite has come back, and everything I eat agrees with me and is giving me strength and energy, and as I said I have gained twenty pounds in weight. I haven't a trouble of any kind and just simply couldn't ask to be in better health and I will praise Tanlac to my dying day."

Tanlac is sold in Red Deer by Gaetz-Cornett Drug & Book Co., and by the leading druggist in every town.

THERE IS NO UNBELIEF.

There is no unbelief!
Whoever plants a seed beneath the sod,
Trusts he in God.

There is no unbelief!
Whoever says, when clouds are in the sky,
Be patient, heart, light breaketh by and by,
Trusts the Most High.

There is no unbelief!
Whoever sees 'neath winter's fields of snow,
The silent harvests of the future grow,
God's power must know.

There is no unbelief!
Whoever lies down on his couch to sleep,
Content to lock each sense in slumber deep,
Knows God will keep.

There is no unbelief!
Whoever says to-morrow, the unknown,
The future, trusts that power alone,
Nor dares disown.

There is no unbelief!
The heart that looks on when dear eyelids close
And dares to live when life has only woes,
God's comfort knows.

There is no unbelief!
For thus by day and night unconsciously
The heart lives by that faith the lips deny,
God knoweth why.

THE CONSCIENTIOUS SCOT

"An enterprising drummer," says a New York business man, "once attempted to bribe an old Scotch merchant by offering him a box of cigars."

"Na, na," said the old chap, shaking his head gravely, "I canna' tak' 'em."

"Nonsense," said the drummer. "If you have any conscientious scruples, you may pay me a quarter for the box."

"Weel, weel," said the old Scot, "I'll tak' two boxes."

IDLE THOUGHTS OF A BUSY FARMER

Last year some upholders of Christian Science and others had remarks in The News pro and con that mode of healing. I am not deeply versed in the mysteries of this so-called "science," but what has stumped me about it is this: Christian Science practitioners and adherents maintain that there is no such thing as sickness, that we are not sick, we only think we are. Very well, we will grant this to be correct. Then they tell us that through or by Christian Science they can cure sickness and disease. Now what I have never been able to get through my head is this: How can they cure something that does not exist?

Curing disease turns the thoughts to nostrums and quack medicine. There is a certain substitute for coffee which is largely advertised, and which tries to promote its sales by enlarging on the poisonous and deleterious effects of coffee and tea. Whenever I see these ads. they remind me of an old negro woman in Jamaica. At the time of, which I write no driving road connected Ulster Spring on the north side with the south side of the Island. There were bridle tracks and bye paths through the heavy timber which covered the "Black Grounds" between the north and south. On one occasion a doctor making this trip lost the trail, and after some hours wandering, came on a small thatched hut. From this presently emerged a very ancient negro woman. The medico was very tired and hungry. After explaining where he wished to go, and finding how far he had wandered astray, he asked the old dame if she could give him something to eat. "Well, Docta," she said, "I can give you a toast plantain and a cup of coffee," which offer was gladly accepted. As he drank his coffee and munched his plantain, the doctor remarked, "Do you know, old lady, when you drink coffee you are taking slow poison?" "Hi! Docta, you don't say so. Well, sa, since me little bit of piccaninny me drink me coffee and me nearly ninety years old now. Say, Docta, its slow for true," she answered. Yes, coffee, is truly a very slow poison.

The negro is very fond of using long, big sounding words—that he may not know the meaning is a detail. One old fellow was greatly disturbed by the word "propaganda" across which he constantly ran in his reading. One night he remarked to his wife, "Dae is a word dat I all time find in a dis ya paper dat I don't no how know the meaning of." "What dat word," asked the lady. "Well, Mam, it is dis ya, propaganda; now what dis ya propaganda mean, anyhow." "Land sake, you tell me you no know what is dis ya propaganda?" "No, Mam, I never hear de meaning ob de word." "Well, sah, I gwine tell you. When I married to my first husband how many children do I been hab?" "You been hab was two piccaninny, Mam." "Yes, sah, I been had two children, and when I been married to my second husband how many children I done hab?" "You done hab was three, Mam." "Yes, sah, I been hab three, and when I done married my third husband how many children I done hab?" "You done hab was four children." "Yes, sah, I done hab was four children, and since I married you how many children I done hab?" "You don't done hab any, Mam." "Yes, sah, since I done married you I don't done hab no children. Now, sah, don't dat show clearly that though I is the proper goose, you is not the propaganda."

Recommends Internal Bathing for Piles and Constipation.

If people who suffer from constipation, piles and the many ills resulting from accumulated waste in the intestines would realize what the J. B. L. Cascade is doing for thousands of people who are being daily restored to perfect health by its use, there would be a J.B.L. Cascade in every Canadian home.

Mr. E. Nighswander, of Green River, Ont., writes: "I purchased a J. B. L. Cascade from you about ten months ago, and consider it the best money I ever invested. For years I have been troubled with constipation, ulcers in the bowels and piles, which all the money I spent on medicine and doctors only relieved temporarily. My J.B.L. Cascado has completely cured these troubles, and I feel it a duty I owe to my fellowmen to endorse the Cascade in the very highest terms. No amount of money could estimate the value it has been to me. No home should be without one."

The J.B.L. Cascade is the only perfected invention for internal bathing. Keeps the system sweet and clean, cures constipation, headaches, rheumatism, and keeps you fit at all times. It is shown and explained at The Gaetz-Cornett Drug & Book Co., Ltd.

Phone or ask them for free booklet all about it—or write Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute, 163 College St., Toronto.

EDMONTON RAISING $150,000 FOR Y.W.C.A.

For the purpose of raising $150,000, to be used in the erection of a Young Women's Christian Association building in Edmonton, the "Y" is planning a campagin to commence May 12th.

This undertaking is of special concern to the people of Northern Alberta, as many girls, women and children coming from outside towns and the rural districts seek accommodation at the Y.W.C.A., and are accommodated there so far as a very inadequate building will permit. During the fiscal year of the association which closed on March 31st, 1067 girls were housed in the Y.W.C.A. home, while 1742 whom the "Y" was unable to provide with rooms were referred to other places.

From the moment girls and women travelling alone detrain at Edmonton, they are, unless they desire otherwise, looked after by the Y.W.C.A. The Travellers' Aid workers meet all trains, render assistance to women and girl travellers and look after children travelling alone. During the past year 5844 trains were met and 5389 persons assisted. Realising the unseasonable hours at which trains frequently arrive, and the difficulty of finding housing accommodation in a strange city even in broad daylight, it is easy to understand what a boon this department of the "Y" work is to the women and girls coming from out of town. When as so frequently happens, under present conditions the "Y" home is filled to overflowing, the secretaries assist strangers as far as possible to find desirable rooms elsewhere. They also endeavor to "follow up" the new girls coming to town and do what they can to ensure their welfare and happiness.

In spite of being handicapped by an inadequate building, the "Y" has during the past year ministered in some form or another to over ten thousand girls, women and children. Many of these were strangers in a strange land. Now in order that the association may carry on the good work which means much to women and girls coming to the city from outside points, it is making an appeal to all friends to extend financial support to this building project. Every little helps and "many nickles will make the muckle" which will provide a suitable building for the "Y" in Edmonton. The co-operation of the U. F.W.A. locals and the Alberta Women's Institutes have been sought in this matter, and replies received to date have been most encouraging. If there is no organization in your town or district undertaking to receive donations, same may be sent directly to Miss Elizabeth Bradshaw, General Secretary, Y.W.C.A., Edmonton, Alberta, and will be gratefully received.

FAIRY TALES

PRODUCTION COUNTS NOT WAGES

A LESSON ON THE HIGH COST OF LIVING.

Production bears a real relation to price. Where production equals consumption, reasonable prices prevail. When production cannot equal the demand, prices go up out of proportion to the shortage.

It has been demonstrated that a 9% reduction in output has resulted in a 68% advance in the price of a certain commodity, and herein lies the main cause of the high prices of today.

The worker who today is not producing his best is, by his own action, increasing the cost of living for himself as well as for others.

He is forced to bid against others in the market for things of which there is not enough to go around. He forces others to pay high prices for the product of his labor, while other men by doing the same thing are forcing prices upon him.

High wages are not a cure-all for the ailment. They are, without fail, passed on to the consumer in higher prices, and as one working people form the larger part of our population, and consequently do most of the purchasing, they are shifting the burden of the high cost of living largely upon themselves.

To illustrate the point let us take some concrete examples:

It has been proven by experts that on a general average labor constitutes two-thirds of the cost of manufacture, and every increase in wages calls for a raise in another industry.

A hatter, say, is receiving $1.00 for certain work. He strikes for a 10% raise, and gets it. The manufacturer naturally puts this increased cost on his product. He was getting $1.10 and raises his price to $1.25. The retailer, in turn, raises his figure, and the consumer pays $1.65 for what formerly cost him $1.50.

The shoemaker finds that his wages will not permit him to pay $1.65 for a hat, so he demands a 10% raise and gets it.

The clothier, the shirtmaker, etc., following the shoemaker, get raises.

The hatter finds that his 10% increase is not enough to meet the extra cost of shoes, clothing, etc., so he asks for another 10%. Then the shoemaker demands more pay, and in turn is followed by the tailor and shirtmaker.

This piling-up goes on and on until the purchasing power of the dollar is reduced to 50 cents. Finally the whole pile tumbles over and business finds itself in a state of extreme doubt.

THE NEED FOR NATIONAL ENLIGHTENMENT

Is it not high time to bring home to the people a realization, which at present appears to be lacking, of the economic situation of the country? The constantly renewed demands of first one and then another branch of labor for higher wages and shorter hours must, unless a halt is called, result in serious consequences. In the end these demands must jeopardise not only the interests of the country but of labor itself. There are influences at work seeking, for ulterior motives, to undermine our industrial system, and with this object the workers are being constantly pressed to make ever increasing demands.

It would almost appear as if there were a belief, as widespread as it is erroneous, that this country has been enriched by the war; comparatively few seem to realise how greatly its wealth has been diminished. A few individuals have doubtless become richer, but the nation is burdened with a debt increased by many millions of dollars on which the interest has to be provided.

In the interests of the Dominion, and of labor also, an educational campaign and other agencies to enlighten the people of this country, and to counteract the malign influences at work appears to be highly desirable. A strong appeal to the patriotism and better instincts of the workers in the present emergency should not fail to produce an effect in securing increased effort and greater restraint, without which it will be impossible for us to pass successfully through the very difficult times in front of us. A more extended knowledge of elementary economic principles affecting trade and industry is clearly also an urgent need of the times, as well as the perception by the workers that the means for increased wages can only be found through increased production. No permanent increase of prosperity can be obtained by constant upheavals in industry, which, if continued, must seriously compromise the outlook of the Dominion and labor.

A CLEAN HIT

Tony Puglesea was drafted and sent overseas. One day, because of his awkwardness, he was being kidded by his lieutenant.

"What did you do before you joined up?" asked the officer.

"I playa de music, and da monk, he collecta da mon."

"Why did you join the army then?"

"I no join. I was drafta."

"And what became of your monkey?"

"Oh, dey make a lieutenant out of him."

When in town call at our warehouse and examine the many desirable features of the IMPROVED COCKSHUTT DRILL. This drill is convertible from lever lift to power lift, for use with horses or tractors, equipped with eveners, poles and neckyoke, or with Engine Hitch as desired.

If you purchase an Improved Cockshutt Lever Lift Drill, and later you desire to add the Power Lift Attachment with Engine Hitch for Tractor, you can do so; or if you wish to add it for use with horses, you can do so, as it eliminates the work and stopping at the end of the field to lift the discs or shoes out of the ground or to put them in again.

It has a large sized Grain Box, and lids of box are metal covered. The feed device is known as the Fluted Force Feed, and is positively the most satisfactory.

It is made in different sizes up to the 12 foot size, and can be equipped with double discs, single discs, or drag shoes, all interchangeable. It will pay you to investigate the merits of this Drill.

We carry a full line of Cockshutt and Frost & Wood Farm Implements; Adams Wagons; Brantford Carriages; Standard Cream Separators; Maple Leaf Grinders; Empire Gasoline and Kerosene Engines, and Wonder Fanning Mills.

We are agents for J. I. Case and Avery Tractor and Threshing Machinery.
